

Host a Circle Home Party

An "Introduction to Circle" workshop in your home...

An experience of self-discovery, story-telling, community & heart
- learning about Circle's universal processes, skills and values - rituals & designs - and essential Circlekeeping skills.
(~2hrs)

$25/person

Includes Circlekeeping Handbook! (Value of $16)

Here's how it works...

*Invite your friends/family (age 18+) to a unique, fun & interactive learning activity in your home - - where your guests will learn about Circle and take home their own Circlekeeping handbook!

*Make sure you have enough space for your group to sit comfortably facing each other in a circle formation (on the floor or in chairs).

*Allow for an uninterrupted (quiet & distraction free) time of about 2 hours to be together (day or evening).

•Confirm participation of a minimum of #6 guests before booking your home party. Confirm 8 or more guests plus yourself and enjoy the party & Circlekeeping handbook free!

For Spring Special...

Book your party now until May 31st !

Tips for Hosting a Circle Party

Pick a theme. Host a Circle party for a special occasion (e.g. baby shower, birthday, calendar holiday), or create your own special occasion to spend time with others (e.g. girls night out, just for fun, potluck social).

Ask your guests to bring a friend. This is a great way to gather enough people to host-a-Circle as well as meet new people and widen your social circle too!

Create an inviting space where your Circle learning will take place. If your party involves a theme, decorate! If going for a more intimate & sacred space – add special touches like pillows to sit on, candles for lighting, etc. Also, snacks & beverages can make a space more inviting too!

Send out Invitations. By mail, phone, or email. Use social media to help 'spread the buzz' too.

Invite your guests to explore www.thebumblebeecircle.com to learn more about what they'll be learning about. Have them contact laura@thebumblebeecircle.com if they have any questions.

And finally, get excited and have fun with it!
